

FACTS ABOUT TREES

FRANK MAREK, CITY FORESTER, GIVES TIMELY HINTS ON PRUNING TREES

"Glendale is gradually becoming endowed with a wealth of shade trees," said Frank Marek, city forester. "The city has been planting trees of various kinds that are growing daily and becoming fine ornaments of the streets. Besides this various private persons have planted trees to beautify their possessions. All right minded citizens take a pride in this civic beauty of foliage and shade and many who are appreciative of the value of the shade tree to the city address questions to the officials asking for advice on the care of their trees and on the proper method of pruning them.

"Pruning trees involves something more than merely cutting away branches that appear to be superfluous. In the case of fruit trees specialists study the habits of each fruit tree under their care and trim it according to its needs. The desire is to produce maximum crops of such fruit as the market may demand. Obviously fruit trees require different treatment from ornamental trees and each kind of tree will require different treatment from all other kinds.

"In many cases each individual tree must be treated differently from the rest in order to secure the best results. There are some fundamental facts about tree life that are apparently not generally known, but which must yet be taken into account. One of these is the method of sap flow. Most people seem to think that the sap carrying soil fertility is taken up by the root, trunk and branches.

"Only a few years ago the theory just mentioned was generally taught. So it is not to be wondered at that many people believe that yet. In reality, however, there are two sap currents in trees. The one takes the soil fertility up to the leaves, which are the chemical laboratory of the tree wherein the soil fertility is elaborated into plant food. The other is a downward current of this elaborated sap feeding and nourishing the tree as it goes to its very root tips.

"This being true it is plain that the method of trimming a tree must exert a strong influence on the tree's growth. If we want a tree to grow rapidly it will not do to trim up the branches to where we wish them, but we must allow them to grow along the trunk from whence they will later be removed when the trunk has become large enough to support a considerable head above.

"Branches kept temporarily along the trunk shade the trunk from injury by the sun while the branches higher up are gaining length to take up that duty. Some trees have the habit of producing strong and ungainly branches which must be removed in order to secure a well-shaped trunk and symmetrical head. It is not always true that a well-shaped small tree is a well-shaped large tree. A tree is small a short time while it is large a long time. We must therefore look ahead and see what will be the future trunk and scaffold branches.

"If the trunk and scaffold branches are properly looked after while the tree is young we will have a beautiful tree when it is grown. Storms are not likely to tear out large branches neither will you be obliged to endanger the life of your tree by removing such branches. The points of all sub-leaders should be clipped off as they begin to show themselves, holding them back while the other branches are catching up. Neglecting to do this in the case of small trees and as well as the mistaken notion that it is necessary to cut off the tops of trees to make them grow are the cause of the growth of two or more leaders from one stump.

"A goodly number of the camphor trees in Glendale have been allowed to form from two to ten leaders near the ground. If the main leader had been allowed to go up and all the points been punched out of all the sub-leaders so as to dwarf them while the other branches were forming above them then these dwarfed leaders could be removed. This would make a symmetrical tree head.

"Pepper trees are trimmed for the additional purpose of removing the black scale. Such trimming does not add to the beauty of the tree, but it keeps it clean. Palms when trimmed should be cut close enough to the trunk to remove the thorns as children at play are often seriously injured by the thorns."

COMPLIMENT TEACHERS

PARENT-TEACHER FEDERATION GIVES ANNUAL RECEPTION AT HIGH SCHOOL

A goodly number of those interested in the public schools of Glendale assembled at the High school Tuesday evening, the occasion being the annual reception given by the Parent Teacher federation to the teachers. The affair was directly in charge of the president of the federation and the presidents of the various associations, while the courtesy committee of the federation were admirable and royal hostesses. The affair was a get-together, get-acquainted meeting and sociability was supreme throughout the evening. The new teachers were warmly welcomed while the old ones renewed old friendships and as a result the teachers and parents will cooperate more heartily in everything that is for the good of the schools and the children. Throughout the evening there was splendid music which added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. The High school orchestra under the direction of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson made their bow to the public for the first time this year. Mrs. Gibson feels she has some excellent material and already the orchestra is beginning to show the result of careful training and united effort, although they have worked together only a month. Many compliments were heard for these young musicians and their director who gave in a most finished manner The High School Cadet March, by Sousa; Humoresque, by Dvorak; Tame Poem and Liberty Bell, by Sousa. The applause was hearty and prolonged. A male quartet consisting of Messrs. Yarrick, Abell, Beers and Franklin sang four selections, Until the Dawn; Over the Field At Early Morn; Garden of Roses and Meet Me At Twilight. All who have heard these men sing know that the perfect blending of their voices and their able interpretations are a delight. Their music gave much pleasure to those who heard them Tuesday night.

Coffee and cake were served during the evening. The affair was in every way a credit to those who planned it.

While the nimrods of Glendale are going as far away as Saugus and Elizabeth lake to enjoy their favorite sport in the shooting season misguided individuals who imagine that Glendale is still in the country have been seen shooting over the fields within the city limits and killing the quail. Patrolman Hollenbeck arrested the following parties guilty of this misdemeanor: Angelo Gagliardi, Joe Del Franco, Carl H. Hann, J. F. Holcomb and R. E. Houn. They were brought before the police court and fined $5 each. When the fines were paid the guns of the hunters which had been confiscated were restored to them and they were dismissed with an admonition to go further afield in their next hunt. Other hunters are being sought who are known to have violated the ordinance about shooting within the city limits.

She leaves three sisters, Jane De Grott, Mrs. Sarah Pikaart and Mrs. Minnie Clark. These with two brothers, William De Grott and John De Grott are resident in different parts of Michigan. Walker, local agent, 1105 West Broadway from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m., when all who have been interested in the wonderful performance of this Hudson, may see the car itself, and see its perfect condition, after its two great endurance runs.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
ATHENS, Oct. 18.—Enormous crowds of civilians enraged at the landing of French marines at the Piraeus and their installation in the municipal theater attacked the foreigners this morning, after a night of rioting. The French marines were driven from the theater and forced back to the harbor where they are under the protection of the guns of the fleet. It is feared that there may be a clash between the people and the French, so Greek troops are guarding the streets. Admiral Du Fournet, commander of the Allied fleet is likely to take measures of reprisal on the mob.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED WITH LOSS

FRENCH THROW BACK DETERMINED ASSAULT ON THEIR POSITIONS AT SAILLY-SALLISEL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, Oct. 18.—With the advantage of fine weather the Germans made a carefully prepared attack on the French positions recently taken at Sailly-Sallisel. The Kaiser's troops were sent on in alternating waves and they were timed to reach the French trenches in succession at psychological moments. Though the Teutons attacked with the greatest courage under this new system they made no gain. The French guns mowed them down and they were finally forced to retreat.

REFUSES TO DISAVOW LUSITANIA SINKING

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT DOES NOT APPROVE NOR ACCEPT GERMANY'S LATEST NOTE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 18.—It is understood today that the United States government does not approve or accept the latest German note on the Lusitania case, which expresses regret that Americans lost their lives in that affair, but does not disavow the act on the part of the German government. It seems likely now that there will be further notes on the subject and that it may not be settled by the present administration.

BRITISH HAVE CAPTURED TWO BREMENS

GERMANS SAY THAT THIRD U-BOAT WITH UNLUCKY NAME IS ON ITS WAY ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—According to reports received from Berlin the Germans acknowledge that the British have already captured two merchant submarines, both of which were named "Bremen." Despite the apparently unlucky name of these vessels the Teutons have dispatched another Bremen for the United States which may or may not escape the British nets.

SPAIN MAY BE INVOLVED IN WAR

ALLIED DIPLOMATS PAY A VISIT TO KING ALFONSO WHICH CREATES MUCH COMMENT

PARIS, Oct. 18.—All Europe is speculating as to what is the meaning of the present visit of Allied diplomats to Spain. A number of Allied negotiators reached San Sebastian today. There they were met by King Alfonso. A consultation is now in full course. It is thought that the consultation may be for the purpose of settling the future status of German submarines that may visit Spanish ports. One of those boats recently paid a visit to Barcelona and this occasioned much heart burning among the Allies.

GLENDALE RED CROSS

WOMEN ARE BUSY PREPARING COMFORTS FOR ENGLISH SOLDIER BOYS

The Glendale branch of the British Red Cross society of Southern California met Monday at 2 p. m., in the Guild room of St. Mark's Methodist Episcopal church. The following ladies were present: Mrs. Walters, president; Mrs. Reginald Whitaker, secretary; Miss Ina Whitaker, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Campbell, Mrs. Hutchinson, Miss Bannock, Miss Frances Godfrey, Miss Walters and Mrs. R. E. Whitaker. Two new members, Mrs. A. M. White and Mrs. England were received. Work was done on hospital shirts and on bandages. These articles will be sent to the front next week.

Miss Ina Whitaker's report on the "Tommy Atkins Tea" was received with much enthusiasm. The report showed that the society has now more than $50 in the bank. It was resolved to send ten Christmas hampers to the men at the front by sending $12.50 to the manager of the Overseas club, London. These hampers contain one fruit cake, one beef loaf, a packet of chewing gum, one can of soup, one-quarter pound of chocolate food and one-quarter pound of biscuits. Mrs. England and Mrs. Helen I. Campbell will be the hostesses at next Monday's meeting. Bring material for the hospital sets and bandages.

FIVE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Five persons were killed and three severely injured when an automobile stage from Los Angeles to San Diego was struck by a train near La Jolla, Tuesday at 5:30 p. m. The auto-stage was driven by Harry Poole 767 East Fortieth street, Los Angeles. Poole was a careful driver and it is thought something must have gone wrong with his machine. There was a clear view of the track for 1000 yards in the direction in which the auto was traveling and Poole may have thought that there was ample time to cross the line. Besides Poole, A. L. Mills of 258 East First street, Los Angeles; Arthur B. Day, 229 East Forty-third street, Los Angeles, N. C. Peters, Los Angeles and Robert Blue, Butte, Mont., were killed.

SEEK INFORMATION

The single tax amendment is to be on the November ballot. Many people have been informing themselves as to the merits of this amendment and claim that they will vote for it at the November election. Others who have made investigations as to the workings of the such a tax law as is prescribed in this amendment claim that it will cause a depression of business and it is folly for any such amendment as it now reads, to carry. This Wednesday evening at the High school auditorium a man who is posted on the various features of the single tax amendment will speak on the question and while he represents the single tax element yet it is fair for us to believe that the people of this community are sufficiently intelligent to ask for an explanation on points that they do not understand and by so doing the merits of the amendment will be placed fairly before the audience who will be able to decide for themselves whether they wish to support such a measure.

AT GLENDALE HIGH

POLITICAL CLUBS ARE ACTIVE AS ELECTION DAY DRAWS NEAR

A joint meeting of the program committees of the school's political organizations is planned for today. The purpose of this meeting is to arrange a schedule which will allot a school assembly to each club for the presentation of a presidential campaign program.

All the clubs are considering how they may win the most votes. These affairs, which promise to be very much worth while, will be open to the public and voters who are "on the fence" as well as all others, are invited to come.

Lehman Crandall yesterday told of a remarkable incident which he witnessed not long ago: Bill Balthis was shining himself on a footstool.

As the result of the initiations yesterday the T. O. C. is larger by two members, Roberto Rosa, who recently re-enrolled in Glendale High and Thomas Phillips, president of the Union Oil. Tom alleges that sticks were used on him when they should not have been, but no one knows what makes him think that.

Chase Story, a Glendale High graduate now attending Throop institute, met with an accident while leaving the grounds of the school in Pasadena yesterday on his motorcycle. Chase was struck by an automobile and hurled to the ground. Chase proved too much for the driver of the auto however, for the windshield and fender of the machine were damaged to quite an extent, while only two spokes and a mud guard were twisted on the motorcycle.

Former students of the school who wandered back yesterday include Pauline Hamilton, Mrs. George Robinson, John Stauffacher, Hill McGillis, Winthrop Jackson and Joseph Maier.

POISONING PETS

A correspondent writes to The Glendale News complaining of the reprehensible habit of placing poison for the purpose of destroying dogs, cats and other animals, which may happen to wander across other lots than those of their owners. "Beware," says this correspondent, "lest you find your dog poisoned some of these days." Quite a number of dogs and cats have been poisoned in Glendale lately. It is too bad to have to confess that we have a number of people in this clean, little town, who are mean enough to poison inoffensive animals, but such is the case.

"Two little boys, who had a dog, who was a great pet and dear to them as any friend could be, when running laughing and happy to school the other morning found their pet lying in a ditch with a bullet in his head. This cruel murder of an innocent animal nearly broke the boys' hearts and it will be long before they forgot the sorrow they have experienced. People who are suffering from bad tempers and are irritable with the world at large frequently vent their ill nature on animals. There are some animals higher in principle than such people—a St. Bernard dog for instance."

BROADWAY P. T. A.

The next regular meeting of the Broadway school P. T. A. will be held Thursday, October 19, at 3 p. m. A special program has been promised. Dr. L. A. Merritt, M. D., formerly of Boston, Mass., will speak upon the prevention of diseases in children; Mrs. Opal Greenwalt on Membership. There will be a reading by Ellene Grist, a vocal number by little Florence Rattray and a violin solo by Miss Quackenbush. A handsome piece of statuary will be awarded the room having the largest number of parents and friends present. Refreshments will be served by the executive board. All are cordially invited whether members or not.

TO HONOR FATHER

On Friday evening of this week the mothers of the Central avenue Parent-Teachers' association will entertain the fathers at 8 o'clock at the school. A good program has been arranged. Professor E. W. Hauck of Fullerton Union High school will give an address on "Thrift." Miss Gertrude Champlain will give a piano solo while Mr. Clark will sing. Mrs. Newlin's class in expression will also have a place on the program. Refreshments will be served. All patrons and friends of the school are invited.

DESTROYING A FORTUNE

Commercialism when carried to an extreme is a very bad thing; when carried to the extent of destroying the very material out of which fortunes are to be made it is surely the height of folly. Yet that is being done by the agents of the factories that are gathering the giant kelp on the Pacific coast and reducing it to pulp so as to extract the potash and other products from it. This kelp has to be harvested from the bottom of the sea and the factories, it appears have been employing a method of harvesting that has resulted in the destruction of a large part of the valuable kelp beds.

Unless the kelp plants are cut with intelligence and care they are likely to be killed. The main stem must be left standing and three buds on it, otherwise the whole plant will die. Ignoring the whole lore that has been collected regarding the habits and growth of the kelp the harvesters in their insensate greed hit on an easy method of reaping the kelp. They towed behind their steam trawlers loops of piano wire tearing the kelp up by the roots and cutting it in pieces much of which has been thrown up on the shore when decayed or lost in the ocean.

It would be difficult to conceive a folly more gigantic than this. Outside of Germany there has been no known commercial source of potash salts until these kelp beds were discovered and the means of reducing them so as to extract the potash found. It is true that Searles lake is now a recognized source of potash, but even that is as yet only beginning to become of commercial value. The potash to be gained from the kelp would mean millions to those who are engaged in the manufacture of that seaweed into the mineral salt.

It is highly important that the mineral salts contained in the kelp, and in the potash lake should be exploited as the supply of potash on hand in this country is very small. It is badly needed in agricultural processes. The fertilizer journals report that small quantities of spot material are changing hands even now at sharp prices.

There is not the smallest doubt that the nation must make itself independent of Germany in this matter of potash salts. In order to do so the United States should exercise supervision over those who are so unscientifically destroying the wonderful harvest the sea affords. If there should be no proper supervision of this process of cutting kelp it will not be many years before the wonderful kelp beds will disappear and the Pacific coast will then be the poorer for their absence.

Those extensive beds of giant seaweed are at present the haunts of fish innumerable. They are the home of many minute crustaceae and molluscae on which the fish sustain themselves. Let the beds once be destroyed and their inhabitants will desert the coast and seek other haunts where food can be obtained. Thus would be extinguished the fisheries of the Pacific coast and the coast would be the loser.

Under proper supervision those kelp beds can be made to yield many vast fortunes. The chemical manufactures of potash are innumerable—potassium hydrate, potassium bicarbonate used in making glass and soap; the potash alums, cyanides, potash bleaching chemicals, dyestuffs, explosives containing nitrate of potash and a long list of general chemicals. The United States cannot afford to throw away so valuable a source of so many valuable products.

VALUE OF SCHOOL ORCHESTRAS

Those who have listened to the very excellent work of the High school orchestra when it has played in public must realize that the world has taken a vast step in advance in this matter. Formerly school students were permitted to grow up without much regard to their musical training. If here or there a strong natural genius for music would crop out in a boy it was often sternly suppressed and discouraged being looked on as savoring of the play-actor, who savored of the devil.

This seems strange when one remembers how much is spoken in praise of music in the Bible. But those who had the supervision of the training of children of some past generations could not get out of their heads the idea that music was to be looked on with suspicion as savoring of the theater or opera house. It was D. L. Moody who said with some humor and truth that it seemed a pity that the devil should have all the good tunes and set a good example by dedicating some excellent so-called "secular" music to the service of God.

The world has passed the stage of looking askance at music and the orchestras of the High and Intermediate schools are the result of sensible thought. Music enlivens and enlightens. It has been found in certain large factories in New England that the playing of music during the day when the employees were working increased the output. Now a great many large factories have regular band concerts every day to cheer and liven up the mental faculties of the workers.

In schools a like result has been discovered. The orchestra is a center round which are built many of the school activities. It is a distinct feature in the curriculum of both the Intermediate and High schools. It gives tone and color to the somewhat laborious life of the school and that necessary stimulus to brains fagged out with continual stretching in one direction.

There is every reason to feel gratified at the standing of the High school orchestra this year. In addition to a young girl who is a distinct piano genius and a wonderful general musician and vocalist though only thirteen years of age, the orchestra can boast of several violinists of merit, a flautist of considerable powers and cornetists and other musicians whose work as the season goes on will call for further comment. There is no doubt that by the time the 1917 class is ready for graduation there will be a flexible and serviceable body of musicians in the orchestra and in the band.

These bodies deserve all the encouragement that can be given them. The young men and young women who graduated out of the High school orchestra and band last season with the class of 1916 are already showing that their training has been of value, and in the university, the Normal, or in business they are all doing well

Music is a wonderful training for the mind. No wonder that Shakespeare with his marvelous intuition declared that the man who had no music in his soul was fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils.

SUNPOWER PLANT

Coal is scarce and expensive in tropical countries; the same time results from agriculture depend mainly upon irrigation, which means steam if any adequate system is to be undertaken. Scientists have realized for many years that the mechanical power to any desired amount can be obtained from the rays of the sun, but no practical system was devised until Frank Shuman, an inventor and scientist of Philadelphia, took the matter in hand.

As a result, there is now in operation at Cairo, Egypt, a plant capable of pumping 6000 gallons of water a minute. He obtains the power entirely from the sun's rays, concentrating them upon boilers in which steam is produced.

The commercial profit of sun power in the tropics seems to have been rendered practical and profitable and the indications are that after the world's stores of oil and coal are exhausted the human race will be able to gain a practically unlimited supply of power from the rays of the sun.

MUD HOUSES

The possibility of using mud as a building material and so solving the problem of providing cheap country homes in farming communities, and housing accommodations in those areas of factory cities where there are sudden influxes of population, is being made the subject of an interesting experiment by the new household and social science department of King's College for Women, at the University of London.

Six mysterious looking walls have been erected in the university grounds, each wall being composed of a different mixture of mud, with a view to testing and finding which kind proves the most suitable in the English climate.

In each case the earth has been subjected to a different process of preparation. In one case soft soap has been added, and in another to the earth and soft soap lime has been added. A covering of cement has been poured over the mud in one section of the wall, while another is made of earth alone.

A sentry, an Irishman, was on post duty for the first time at night, when the officer of the day approached. He called, "Who comes there?"

"Officer of the day," was the reply. "Then what are yez doin' out at night?" asked the sentry.

TROPICO TRUSTEES

The trustees of the city of Tropic met in regular session Tuesday evening at 7:30 with President Peters in the chair, Trustees Alspach, Henry and Seal present, Boyce absent. Officers Coleman, Shaw, Wattles, Mabry and Gould were also present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The regular order of business was to take up the matter of an appeal of Mrs. Larson and others in regard to the assessment for street improvement of Adams and Moore streets.

Judge Bordwell of Los Angeles was present and represented Mrs. Larson before the board. In his argument he exhibited the contract which had been made between her and the city in regard to the amount of her assessment for this improvement. The contract which he exhibited stated that Mrs. Larson should lead to the City of Tropic, certain land for street purposes and in consideration for such deed Mrs. Larson's assessment should not exceed 10 cents per lineal foot, which would amount to about $130, and the present assessment is more than $1700. The board after hearing the arguments took the matter under advisement for one week.

A communication was received from the Pacific Light & Power company stating that they had received the lighting contract and would begin work at once to put in the switches for the San Fernando road service.

A communication was received from the manager of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company stating that the gross earnings for the past fiscal year for this company in Tropic was $6603.41 and enclosing a check for $132.06 as per franchise this amount being 2 per cent. of the gross receipts.

Dr. Duncan addressed the board in regard to the dangerous condition of the intersection of Central avenue and San Fernando boulevard, and urged that the board take this matter up and repair these streets to avoid accidents. The matter was referred to Henry and Peters, they to report conditions and the best way feasible for the repair of same.

Mrs. Bowman addressed the board asking that she be allowed sixty days in which to dispose of her dogs before paying the tax on some. Trustee Seal's motion to allow her the sixty days was lost for want of a second.

Mr. Mushet inquired if the gas mains were to be laid on Hill street before the street was paved. He was informed that no answer had been received from the gas company up to this time.

The city attorney reported that under the ordinance it would be a difficult matter to collect the license from cess pool diggers, as individuals were in the habit of taking out the permit and then hiring a cess pool digger to do the work, thus avoiding paying the license.

The board ordered the city attorney to draw up an ordinance which will compel anyone to pay $1 for a permit to dig a cess pool and do away with the cess pool license.

The clerk reported that the contract for the improvement of Hill street had been signed and instructed the city engineer to set stakes for same. On motion Mr. Framm was appointed inspector for the Hill street improvement.

The street superintendent was instructed to proceed with the repairs of the gutter on Glendale avenue.

The city attorney was ordered to prepare a resolution of intention for the opening of Columbus street.

The following taxicab licenses were granted: H. E. Starkey, L. W. Kingsbury, Al. Rossen and A. M. Starkey.

The following claims were allowed and ordered paid:

OVER SANGUINE

A cheery optimism is a very good thing, but some young folks ruin their chances by being oversanguine. All of you are acquainted with the youth who feels sure he is going to come out all right, without doing anything special to deserve it. He never worries as to how things will turn out, which is a good thing as far as it goes, but he does not work to make them come out as he wishes them to, which is a bad thing.

The sanguine attitude of mind which anticipates all sorts of unlikely luck, is one of the things that work disaster. If you back up your hopefulness by hard plucky work, your optimism is a good thing. If you are so hopeful naturally that you feel sure you will come out all right whether you do your best or not, then your hopefulness means disaster.

Who doubts that if we all did our duty as faithfully as the soldier does this, this world would be a better place?—Charles Dickens.

PARTY REGISTRATION

If the party registration in California is a reliable indication of the vote to be cast on November 7th for president, the election is over now so far as the presidential candidates are concerned, the Republicans having over three to one the best of it, says the Monrovia News.

But the registration does not tell the whole story, a fact that has been well proved in recent elections in California. All electors do not vote the way they register, and yet the registration is some indication of party strength. The supporters of the president claim to be very confident of carrying the state, but if they succeed in doing that it will be by the most remarkable reversal of the registered vote that has yet taken place in the history of California.

In 1914 Governor Johnson running as a Progressive turned the Republican registration upside down. But from Republican to Progressive is an easy and natural step for the voter. From Republican to Democrat is a very far cry, considering the natural and fundamental hostility between the two great parties, and our friends the enemy will have to "go some" if they carry California for their favorite. We are from Missouri.

Following is a circular on the registration sent out from Republican state headquarters recently:

Complete registration figures reported by various registrars and county clerks throughout the state show that a Republican victory in November is mathematically certain.

In the larger counties, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda, the Republicans lead the Democrats by three to one. The Democratic party by these figures is proved to be a minority party.

That this great voting strength will be behind the party nominees is certain. By no system of calculation or estimates can the Democrats base a claim of success or hope at the polls.

In Los Angeles, the total registration on October 7 ran to 355,520. This was divided as follows: Republicans, 159,236; Democrats, 52,182; not stated, 97,996; Progressives, 11,221; Socialists, 10,488; Prohibitionists, 14,409.

So it may be seen that in Los Angeles the Republican registration is a little more than three times that of the Democratic. It is conceded even by the Democrats that more than one-half of the failed-to-state vote will go to the Republican nominees and that the majority of the registered Progressives will vote for Hughes and Johnson.

The same story is true of San Francisco. The division along party lines is about the same. The total registration for the November election is 184,819. These are divided by parties, Republicans, 105,467; Democrats, 38,161; Socialists, 3,748; Progressives, 4,252; declined to state, 32,138; Union Labor, 386; Prohibitionists, 666; Socialist Labor, 1.

Again it will be noted that the Republican registration in San Francisco city and county is nearly three to one against the Democrats, with a just claim for the Republican nominees that they will carry more than one-half of the Progressive and failure-to-state voters.

In Alameda county, approximately 125,000 voters registered and as everybody knows, Alameda county is overwhelmingly Republican.

Governor Johnson's wonderful popularity is a guarantee of success for the whole ticket. When he was nominated by the Republican party for United States Senator, the state became safely for Hughes.

California, on the figures shown, is nearly three to one for the Republican nominees.

A CURIOUS FISH

In a new book entitled "The Ocean," A. Hyatt Verrill, who has spent many years in investigating the waters of the earth, attributes some of the sea serpent stories to the occasional appearance of the strange "ribbon fish." This creature is supposed to be an inhabitant of great depths and to appear on the surface of the sea only when injured.

This authority says:

"One individual, nearly twenty feet in length, lashed itself upon a beach in Bermuda, and was seen swimming in loops or convolutions, exactly as the sea serpent is described as swimming by those who claim to have witnessed the convulsion of sea monsters."

A recent article in Popular Mechanics describes a machine which can hang as much wall paper in a day as can be hung by three expert workmen.

The machine is of aluminum, and contains a roller with adjustable cutting knife, which trims the paper to the desired width; a roller that applies paste to the paper, and other rollers which guide and hold the strip as it is being applied to the wall. The pattern is matched at the baseboard, after which the machine is pressed upward along the wall. When the ceiling or border is reached, a shearing device within cuts the paper off at the right length. Paste is applied only as fast as the paper unrolls. The machine can also be used in papering ceilings. It will expedite paperhanging very much.

PLYMOUTH'S 300TH ANNIVERSARY

Historic Plymouth, Mass., is planning to have a grand celebration in 1920, to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims. As it is now being arranged tentatively, the celebration will be in the nature of a national exposition made to show the progress of the country since the Mayflower cast anchor in Plymouth and Cape Cod bays. Progress in science, agriculture, the arts, and transportation will be portrayed.

Aside from its historic interest, Plymouth as a port ranks in foreign importance next to Boston, in Massachusetts. More than one-fourth of all the cranberries raised in the United States are grown in the vicinity of Plymouth. The city's total annual production in manufacturing lines amounts to about $15,000,000.

Some persons assert that the Pilgrims first landed at Provincetown and therefore believe that any observance of the event should be held there. The Pilgrim Memorial monument, a granite shaft 252 feet high, was built to commemorate the arrival of the Pilgrims there. It seems certain that the historic ship lingered for some time in Provincetown harbor before striking out across the bay and discovering Plymouth.

NEW STUDY COURSES

New York university at its summer school has embodied some unusual and practical ideas in the courses offered. One of these is the expert training of teachers to instruct factory workers. Throughout the country factory owners are constantly settling damage suits for accidents by green and inefficient workers. To put a trained instructor into a factory, to show the hands how to work, is really a matter of economy. These teachers are trained to supervise and operate the regular factory machines in the classrooms.

It is the object of this teaching to provide better workers, who would save the owner enough in unwaged material to justify the paying of higher wages. It has been discovered that the most expensive people in the world are those who get the cheapest wages.

Another innovation is that the instructor in the class of journalism teaches the students the make up of a high school or college journal so that future editors and reporters may "know something beyond the mere writing of their articles. Proof reading, editorial policy, the methods of stimulating school interest through school journals, methods of getting advertising, and ways of increasing circulation are discussed in the classes, and practical means for attaining desired ends are taught.

WORK OF FISH COMMISSION

One of the most useful departments of the scientific work of the United States government is the artificial propaganda of fish by the covered ways of raising all the more important native species in captivity where they may be protected from their natural enemies.

The commercial fish supply of many American cities is dependent upon the annual restocking from the government hatcheries; angling waters that furnish sport for thousands are supplied with fish in the same way and new and desirable species are introduced wherever conditions are favorable. For example, the black bass, which is the favorite game fish of the Potomac and a staple in the markets of the city of Washington, was first planted there by the fish commission.

The commission has now undertaken a new departure in the encouragement of private fish ponds. If you have land which you wish to convert into a pond, the commission will furnish you with the variety best suited to your locality. If you have a cold, clear stream you may be able to raise brook trout.

At its hatchery on the Au Sable river the government produces millions of trout annually and sends them to all parts of the country where there are suitable conditions.

ON A GUINEA-PIG FARM

A citizen of Moorestown, N. J., owns the largest guinea pig farm in the world. He raises more of them than any other grower in the United States, and makes money where others have often failed. It has been said that almost any one can be a farmer, but to be a successful farmer is something different, and most difficult of all is to be a successful guinea pig farmer.

Alfalfa or hay is the staple food of the animals and they are especially fond of nearly all kinds of vegetables. In fact, unless due care is exercised, the pigs will do themselves injury by eating too much. When once their habits are thoroughly understood and watchful care is exercised over their food supply, the raising of guinea pigs becomes mainly a matter of warm sanitary quarters.

BEAUTIFYING A RAILWAY

The Philadelphia & Reading railroad sends out a special baggage car each spring loaded with plants for flower beds at about 150 different stations on its line. It employs a chief gardener to direct this work of beautifying its grounds in these various towns and cities.

LA CANADA

The attendance at church last Sunday was fair compared with the attendance generally but was not half as large as it should be.

The adult Bible class has chosen C. B. Anderson as teacher and he began his work last Sunday. Mr. Anderson has held prominent positions in business in Los Angeles and elsewhere, has been a leading active member of the Presbyterian church, has had a full college course and is, therefore, specially well fitted to act the part of a general Bible class teacher. He begins this work by giving a series of introductory lectures on the Bible, as to its inspiration, its divine authority and the evidences of Christianity. It would be very appropriate as well as encouraging to the members of the class, the teacher and the Sunday school if thirty or forty people would assemble every Sunday morning at 10 o'clock to receive the instruction of Mr. Anderson as a competent layman of unusually good address.

Miss Bisbee, who has been the efficient teacher of the class for some time was obliged to resign and to leave La Canada in search of health. The pulpit was filled by the pastor Rev. Dr. Scott who preached a good sermon on the Powers of Darkness and the European war.

The young people in their Christian Endeavor meeting in the evening, led by Edwin Cooper, had for their subject "Public Spirit" or "Good Citizenship," a subject which people everywhere today need, in a special manner to consider. The neglect of the duties of good citizenship on the part of church people to a large extent for nearly 1800 years is a most prolific source of the present inhuman slaughter in Europe and the social ills which abound in our land.

Mrs. P. M. Johnson returned home last Saturday evening from the Marango street hospital, Pasadena, accompanied by her young daughter, who has been named Ada Elizabeth.

The meeting of the La Canada Valley Improvement association was held as usual last Saturday evening in the valley club hall. In the absence of the vice president, P. M. Johnson, who, for several months, has been acting as the presiding officer, E. H. Brooks was called to take his place. After serving as president of the association for more than three years Mr. Brooks resigned the first of July last, as that was the end of the year for which he was elected and as extra duties outside prevented him from discharging the duties of the office. But the association did not accept his resignation. A leave of absence was granted and a petition signed by many members urged him to take up the work again as soon as possible. He had concluded to do so the first of November, next, but in the absence of the vice president and by special request he was led to resume his duties last Saturday evening. As he took the chair hearty applause was given by the audience indicating that his services have been appreciated.

The association was addressed by Senator Carr of Pasadena, concerning the seven amendments proposed for adoption at the coming state election. The amendments which pertain to the liquor traffic and the single tax were especially considered. The address was clean, forceful, deeply interesting and instructive. The speaker showed that he had a thorough mastery of the subject. He favored the liquor amendments, but was strongly opposed to the working of the single tax amendment on the ground that it is too drastic a measure and would be calamitous by suddenly relieving big corporations from taxation and thereby losing from the state treasury a large amount of funds on account of its taking effect in January.

The association has many reasons and incentives for taking on a new lease of life and for making its work in the future more effective than ever. The coming of new residents to our valley, the new homes established here, the new school building now in process of construction will provide an up to date civic center for the people of La Canada, which, according to the plans, will be "a thing of beauty and joy forever," and the many improvements now being made in different parts of the valley, should encourage the people to meet together in the association, and cooperate together to make it a grand success.

A part of the program for the next meeting, October 28, has already been arranged in the choice of four of our bright young men to debate on the following resolution: "Resolved that the people of California should vote the state dry at the election in November." It is desired that discussion should begin promptly at 8 o'clock as two of the speakers have to meet other engagements elsewhere later in the evening. It is, therefore, earnestly requested that the members and others be present so far as possible a little before the time to begin. If we can form the habit of being on time at our meetings we can avoid late hours and our association will be more satisfactory to all concerned. One part of the program at the next meeting will be answers to the question "What do we specially need now in La Canada and in our association." Anyone will be at liberty to answer this question either verbally or by handing a written answer to the secretary or president. A few at least should come prepared to give some reply. A full statement of the program will appear next week in this paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Knight recently welcomed a son to their home who will be known as Thomas Fenton Knight, Jr.

Messrs. Seright and Johnson have purchased an auto truck for the marketing of their oranges and lemons.

In view of the fact that so much is being written in praise of the nutritive nature of goat's milk and that they are being substituted for cows as they are free from tuberculosis it is interesting to note that Mrs. Penfield has purchased two goats, Mrs. Belton one and Mr. Moses one. The Rural World in a recent issue calls the goat "The Wise Man's Cow" and says: "Milk goats are three to five times more prolific than cows. The kids can be raised with small expense and the males are far more valuable than calves for meat purposes. They are the daintiest and cleanest of animals. They will not touch unclean food and are little subject to disease."

Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Brooks recently entertained Mrs. Brooks' sister, Mrs. Kurtz, wife of Doctor C. J. Kurtz of Chicago, with her three children, who were charmed with Southern California as they were shown numerous points of interest. They are now with relatives in San Diego where Mrs. Kurtz has placed her children in school, her twin daughters entering the High school.

J. T. Penfield has returned to his home in La Canada from New York City, his former home, where he devoted himself for nearly five months to business matters. While his visit there had many pleasant features he was greatly inconvenienced by the strike on the street railways, in consequence of which he had to walk many miles. He reports that while business is good there and labor is in great demand, real estate is not selling any more readily than it is at present in Southern California.

Mr. Brooks and Mr. Johnson attended together the lecture given last week, Tuesday evening, at the Pasadena High school by Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the noted Hindu poet and philosopher and winner of the Nobel prize for literature. The large hall was crowded with eager listeners. He read his address but on account of the poor acoustic properties of the auditorium many heard very little that was said. To be impressed, however, with his striking personality was ample reward for going to the lecture and a good preparation to appreciate his profound utterances, many of which are found in public libraries and in current literature. He is one of the few greatest prophets and teachers of the world today. The following utterances by him are taken at random: "Our roots must go deep down into the universal if we would attain to greatness of personality." "Only those of tranquil minds and none else can attain abiding joy, by realizing in the soul the being who manifests on essence in a multiplicity of forms." Surely the mammalian lives we are living here in America are not conducive to deep thinking, nor to greatness of personality, and abiding joy. These will be impossible so long as we put the dollar above the man.

OUR SHARE OF WAR COST

Every American ought to be reminded from time to time that he is helping pay for the war. Most of us would be reminded of this fact if we looked over our monthly bills in the light of the month's news. To mention two items, copper and steel do not figure directly in the household expenditures, but when most of the surplus steel and all of the surplus copper is exported for war purposes everybody who uses manufactured goods of any kind feels the pinch. The war costs seem too big to realize, but they are made up of widows' mites and the American widow's mite is there with the rest.

These reflections are faintly reminiscent of the golden years of this country when it was confidently asserted that the world's business relations had become so interwoven that for one great nation to make war on another would be like a man cutting off his own nose, and that consequently there could be no great wars. Now we see the less rosy side of this half-truth. There can be wars, and the whole world, neutral as well as belligerent, can help pay for them.

A SUCCESSFUL HOBBY

George B. Sloane of New York City, a successful young business man who holds a responsible position with one of the largest silver-smiths of the city, has achieved a reputation as one of the ablest postage stamp authorities in the country. He is an authority upon the stamps of the United States. He is known by collectors and dealers everywhere and his advice is in constant demand by them.

He conducts departments in two stamp magazines, writes stamp articles for other publications and carries on a large correspondence. His own collection of stamps is highly valuable, numbering many thousands of both United States and foreign stamps. He states that the stamps of Uncle Sam are the most complicated and hard to understand of any, and it has taken a great deal of time and hard work for him master them.

SUMMER BOY FARMERS

In Pennsylvania a new plan for attracting schoolboys to farm life has been in operation this summer. The Bureau of Compulsory Education has undertaken to get schoolboys into the country. Inquiries were made among the farmers as to whether they desired the services of boys between the ages of thirteen and sixteen who were willing to attend to weeding, digging of potatoes and the gathering of hay in return for their board, during the summer vacation.

Summer homes were found for nearly 100 boys in this manner, and nearly all of them have done well. Some of the farmers have expressed the desire to have the same boys next year, paying them $2.00 and $2.50 a week. Over 250 boys have applied for places, and without doubt positions will be found for all of them.

The authorities believe that the plan will open a new vocation for city boys by showing them what life in the country is like. Many of the lads have manifested a high degree of interest and have expressed their intention of taking up the serious study of agriculture. The Pennsylvania Granges are aiding the movement by furnishing the necessary data to show that the farmers to whom the boys go are of good character.
